

A2: China is behind the U.S.

1. According to an article published by the Economist on August 22, 2014 it shows that by 2021 China will come back as the world's biggest economy. The article states: "We have plugged our expectations into the chart above as the default assumptions. Toting it all up, we now see 2021 as the year of China's re-emergence as world's biggest economy. "
2. According to an article written by Michael Schuman on April 30, 2014, "China's economy is catching up to the U.S.'s much more quickly than anticipated."
(Found on time.com)
3. The U.S. is very dependent on China because the majority of the products that we purchase are manufactured in China.
4. There can always be another economic disaster in the U.S. which will bring us closer to China's economic level or put us on China's level.
5. According to a chart made by the International Monetary Fund, China's GDP is only $7 million dollars behind the U.S.'s GDP.